A Thank you card from the Casper Humane Society for the donation in the name of Charlotte Barton. We received a letter from the Cadama Foundation explaining their service for the Bishop house and a letter from the Downtown Business Christmas Parade. The theme this year is A Christmas Wish List. We can only have 10 cars and they must have Christmas lights on them.

Mark Millikan shared a few points about being the newsletter editor. It's not a difficult job, but is a little time consuming. It just depends on what the new editor was to include in the letter. We do need to have upcoming events and the minutes from the previous meeting included. All the information is on the web site we just need to send it to the members who do not have access to the web.

If someone does not come forward to take over the newsletter we may have to suspend it all together and just send out the minutes only.

lot of fun and he would like to do it again sometime.

The Wednesday night cruises are pretty much done as only 3 of showed up last week. We did say we would like to do more car shows for seniors on Wednesday night cruise night next summer.

To our highly valued OCAC membership:

The purpose of this letter is to reach out to you, our OCAC members who may feel a hardcopy OCAC newsletter is of critical importance. To that end, we are asking for your assistance in ensuring its continuance.

In order to improve our ability to rapidly disperse information, OCAC has entered the modern era of web and social media. Club activities and other important information are quickly posted and updated if last-minute changes are made. Given these modern web-based tools, hardcopy newsletters are obsolete in most clubs.

Members who at one time devoted much time and effort to editing, publishing, and mailing hardcopy newsletters are now focused on improving the far more effective OCAC website and Facebook page. Information in the newsletter is currently a duplication of that already posted in the web site. In fact, OCAC web site info is probably much more up-to date, given event changes due to schedule conflicts, weather, etc.

At the June and July 2015 OCAC general meetings, the President asked for volunteers to continue with hardcopy newsletter publishing and mailings. No one responded. Can you help?

Please contact the editor for any questions at the club address or at newsletter@ocac.cc. Some typical questions are below. We very much look forward to hearing from you. If not, we will assume you have no interest in assisting with the newsletter.

Sincerely,
2015 OCAC Newsletter Editor

FAQs:

Is the newsletter being stopped? No, not if volunteers like you step up to do the work.

Don't I pay for the newsletter with my dues? Yes, but club dues cover much more than publishing and mailing of the newsletter. OCAC dues have not risen in decades, despite significant increases in publishing and mailing cost. Dues-paying members who chose the web site for their information are subsidizing hardcopy mailings to others.

Do I need a computer to help? It's strongly recommended, but entirely up to you. The most important information are meeting minutes, which can be easily reproduced and mailed. The critical issues are budget compliance, timeliness, and ensuring you have an up-to-date membership mailing list.

How do I get information without the newsletter? All club activities are discussed at club and committee meetings. All club and regional car events are posted on the website. Websites and the folks who can assist you can be accessed through widely available computers such as print shops and libraries. Moreover, OCAC members are more than happy to assist you, especially if you are restricted by health or family issues.
